

CDA Solutions Integrated Security at its best!

Case Study – Cromarty Firth Port Authority, Invergordon, Scotland

CDA Solutions were asked to review the CCTV and Access Control systems in place at the Cromarty Firth Port Authority, a major facility at Invergordon near Inverness in Scotland. Upon discussing and understanding the clients specific needs CDA put together a proposal for a fully integrated site security solution using the authority's extensive IT network to manage all functionality.

Part of the amazing Cromarty Firth Facility

Captain Ken Grey – Port Manager at CFPA said;

"We were very impressed with CDA's innovative solutions to some complex requirements. They fully understood the brief immediately and put forward a solution that exceeded our expectations. In fact we expanded the brief of the contract to include the replacement of cameras when we saw the quality of the new ones. We are looking forward to working with CDA throughout this project and beyond into the future."

The final installation consisted of automated gates and barriers, pedestrian turnstiles, voice, video and keypad intercoms, automated license plate recognition, and an extensive high definition CCTV system complete with both static and PTZ cameras – several of which broadcast via a wireless network due to geographical constraints on site.

Alongside the installation of all of this new technology CDA Solutions also seamlessly integrated legacy equipment ensuring that the Port Authority received the best possible return on their investment.

The entire CCTV and access control system is remotely managed from a single site security office delivering significant cost savings and operational efficiency improvements for the authority.

The system design and installation at Cromarty Firth is a perfect example of the collaborative approach that CDA Solutions take with their customers – taking the time to really understand the issues and requirements, and then providing a bespoke solution that meets and exceeds expectations. Total site security from CDA Solutions.
